MARRIAGE IN GERMAN

NOBILITY AT BERLIN

BERLIN, Dec. 15.—The marriage of Duke Johann Albrecht of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, regent of Brunswick, and Princess Elizabeth, of Stolberg-Rossia, took place today at Wernigerode, Persia Saxony, in the presence of many members of the royal family and a great gathering of other distinguished persons.

Handsome presents were sent to the bridal couple by Emperor William with whom Duke Johann has always been an especial favorite. For many years the Duke made his home at Potsdam, and was senior major of the regiment of hussars which the Emperor himself commanded in person up to the time of his accession.

Duke Johann was born in 1878 and has been regent of Brunswick since 1907, when his election by the Brunswick diet settled the long controversy over the succession to the throne, which was claimed by the Duke of Cumberland, who was the rightful heir to the last Duke of Brunswick.

Princess Elizabeth, the bride of Duke Johann, was born at Rossia, on June 29, 1885. Duke Johann's first wife, who was Princess Elizabeth of Saxe-Weimar Eisenach, died about two years ago.

-OKLAHOMA WILL SELL

1,600,000 ACRES OF LAND

GUTHRIE, Okla., Dec. 15.—During the next three weeks the State of Oklahoma is to sell 1,600,000 acres of common school indemnity lands, the proceeds of which will go into the common school fund. The sale was begun today at Chandler, where John N. Shepler, superintendent of sales of the school land department, put up at auction the first batch of tracts that are to be sold in Lincoln county.

The 1,600,000 acres of land is appraised at from eight to twelve dollars an acre. About one million acres are to be sold as agricultural land, while the rest is to be adapted to farming. The land is to be sold in 40-acre tracts, and the proceeds will be used to support the common school system.

It is the desire of the State to obtain more land for the common school system, and the fact that they have a large tract of land in the townships and school lands where they are located. The land is to be sold in 40-acre tracts, and the proceeds will be used to support the common school system.

MOLLY SMITH'S DRESSES.

Giulia Morosini of New York, "the best dressed woman in the world"—poor thing!—is a chameleon.

Herefore she had allowed her slaves to keep up her wardrobe. Now her father is dead and left her only $10,000.

Her interest on this sum at 4 per cent brings about $500,000 a year. It costs $500,000 to keep up the Morosini home, leaving Giulia but $15,000 a year for her gowns.

"How on earth can she dress decently on that sum?" ask the Four Hundred.

You see, Miss Morosini has been called the "chameleon girl" because of her habit of changing gowns many times each day.

Mirabile!

There's prospect the poverty stricken maid may be able to wear no more than two or three dresses a day.

Speaking of dresses, you older ones, do you remember how the girls used to dress?

There was Molly Smith.

Molly did not have three different dresses a day. She had only about three all told.

There was that linsey woolsey gown in which Molly milked the cows and washed the dishes before school time.

Mostly Molly wore the linsey woolsey in school, and she was good to look at—very.

Then there was the checked gingham that she wore, with white collars and cuffs, on Friday afternoon, when there was speaking, or to spelling school. Molly was most fetching in that combination. Your eyes just would wander her way.

And there was that white dress for summer Sundays and special occasions. It may be doubted if Miss Morosini in her costliest gown was half so pretty as Molly Smith in her Sunday dress.

Of course Molly had the advantage in her natural coloring of peaches and cream complexion, and the spring of youth and health in her every movement, and the sweet and innocent look of maiden modesty in her eyes, all of which Miss Morosini lacks. The young girl of thirty, with her hair of raven black and eyes of deep blue, was a picture of beauty.

Let us turn to the present. Molly Smith is a girl of thirty, with her hair of raven black and eyes of deep blue, was a picture of beauty.

TWO-CENT INJUNCTION

CASE ON HEARING

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 15.—Following up his Missouri decision adjudging the two-cent fare law unconstitutional where it can be shown that a railroad is unable to earn a reasonable profit, Federal Judge Smith McPherson recently granted a temporary injunction forbidding the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Railway and Light Company from complying with the Iowa two-cent fare law, and a hearing will be held today.

The action was based on a petition by Mrs. Elizabeth D. McPherson, of Haverford, Penn., a stockholder of the company. She declares that the company is no longer paying dividends. She says the stockholders have been forced into the action to protect their interests. The injunction restrains Attorney General Myers, the State Railroad Commissioners and the two county attorneys from bringing action against the company to compel it to follow the law.

POLICE DISPOSE OF

MANY CONDEMNED RELICS

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Following in abandonment of the old police headquarters at 300 Mulberry street, for many years the center of investigation for more crime mysteries than any other place in the world, with the possible exception of Scotland Yard, an auction sale of condemned police property was held there today.

Among the condemned property is a copy of the Penal Code, another of the Charter of the City and a copy of the city ordinances.

These are listed as follows in lot No. 2: "Two iron gates, one Cook's Penal Code (1905), one Greater New York Charter (1901), one city ordinance (1905), one boiler (hot water, 50 gallons), one stove (hot water), eight bedsteads, seven bed springs, nine oil cans, 135 feet cable elevator, lot of iron pipe stanchions, quantity of Manila rope."

It could not be earned what artist of the department was responsible for the arrangement of Lot No. 2. It was conceded that the lot was what is called miscellaneous.

MAIL YOUR PRESENTS NOW,

SAYS POSTMASTER SMITH

THE CHRISTMAS RUSH WILL SOON COMMENCE AND PACKAGES ARE LIABLE TO DELAY.

Just at present the local postoffice force is not overcrowded with the extra amount of mail usual before Christmas, but the holiday rush is bound to commence in a few days. Postmaster Smith requests the Daily News to admonish its readers to mail Christmas packages as early as possible and thus insure their delivery in proper time. Packages not mailed until a few days before the day upon which recipients are supposed to receive them are very apt to become lost or delayed in the great mass of mail which is yearly transported by the government the few days closest to Christmas.

A great many persons seem to be under the impression that it does no particular harm to enclose a note with a present sent to a friend—but it does for it makes the package liable for first-class postage, and the sender liable to a fine or imprisonment for sending as any other than first-class.

It has been decided by the classification committee of the Postoffice department that the words "Not to be opened until Christmas day" or similar inscription, may be written only on such parcels as bear postage of first class rates. Packages that are mailed at third class or fourth class rates may bear the same inscription, provided that it is stamped or printed on them. When written on the parcel with pen or pencil, the words are held to be a personal communication from the sender to the addressee, thus making the matter subject to first-class rates.

ANOTHER BUNCH OF CATTLE

CAPTURED THIS MORNING.

Mayor E. W. Greene discovered a bunch of four head of cattle in a lot opposite W. B. Chittenden's residence on North Ridgewood avenue, this morning, and immediately summoned the colored marshal of Midway to watch the animals until more could be secured to round them up. In the meantime someone had been in the lot and at once went to the house of the owner, paid the price for the capture, and took charge of the cattle.

The cattle were taken up by the marshal and are being held at the city pound.
